

Important Dates!

Wednesday, October 31: A.M. School only

Children may wear their costumes to school*

Parade at 8:40 a.m./class party at 10:30 a.m.*

Tuesday, November 6: No School/Election Day

Reading: We started the non-fiction unit this week. Students will learn about many text features to help them with comprehension. This week we read a selection about ants and focused on main idea and details. Ask your child what they learned about amazing ants!

Writing: Students are taking notes from the ant selection we read this week to help them write a report. We hope to have them finished in the coming week so we may display them in the hallway.

Math: We took the Unit 2 test yesterday and will begin Unit 3 on Monday. Please look for some fact triangles to come home soon. These can be used to practice addition and subtraction facts. I will also include a list of the strategies we've learned in class so far.

Science: We released our painted lady butterflies last week. It was fun to watch them change from larvae, pupae to adults in the past few weeks. We wish them well.

Our milkweed bug nymphs continue to grow in their habitat. Hopefully we will be able to see them in their adult stage soon.

Yesterday I sent home another Sign-up Genius for Friday spelling if you are interested in volunteering.

Have a wonderful weekend!
